Edition 3 – June 2020

ON-OFF project

ON-OFF aims at assisting professionals working with children help them identifying the behavioral, situational and structural causes that lead to online commitment and encourage them to adopt a balanced behavior.

For achieving its main goal, the project will develop a toolkit, which is a set of tools such as a knowledge repository, an ICT-based curriculum and an Augmented Reality game. The toolkit aims at raising awareness about Internet addiction condition and boost a balanced approach between online commitment and real life interactions.

FOURTH PROJECT MEETING | ONLINE

The 4rth transnational meeting of the project was held online due to the covid-19 outbreak and the following restrictions. In the presence of all parties, the meeting took place with a core focus on evaluating the project's progress and how milestones of crucial importance might have been affected given the circumstances related to the coronavirus epidemic.

Among the main topics of the agenda were the content translation, the development of the AR game, the ON-OFF4youngsters Academy Virtual Space, along with the workshops & pilots and last but not least, the evaluation of the second Intellectual Output. Given the new regime of working remotely and switching to online activities, most of the project's next steps were re-evaluated and treated accordingly, always taking into account each activity's specific requirements. The partners collectively agreed upon postponing the workshops but going through with organising the pilots online.

Embracing a balanced approach between Online engagement and OFFline alternatives

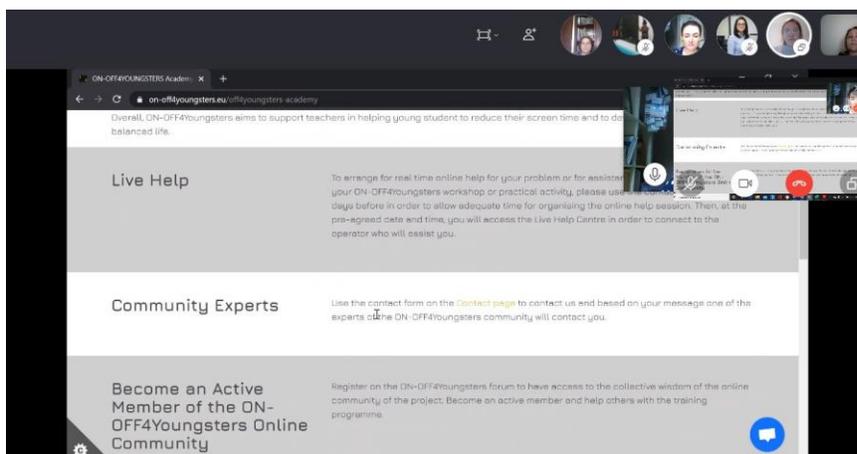

ONOFF4YOUNGSTERS ACADEMY

The partners

The ON-OFF4youngsters Academy Virtual Space is set up in the project website. A live chat and an online forum have been integrated in the Academy to encourage ON-OFF4youngsters enthusiasts to reach out.

WHAT'S NEXT?

- "ONOFF4Youngsters" workshops will be held during the extension period granted for the completion of the project.
- Piloting workshops will be held with more than 200 students all over Europe.
- Multiplier events will be organised in the partner countries in September.
