THE ON-OFF4YOUNGSTERS PROJECT ENDS

As you may already know the Erasmus + project, ON-OFF4youngsters has come to end.

During the past 2 years the ON-OFF4youngsters consortium managed to develop:

- a new pedagogical approach to attract children's attention and then achieve the learning objectives by offering a teaching and joyful interactive gaming experience.
- a new curriculum for teachers and students to be used in the classroom, comprising a teachers' guide and learning activities that raise awareness about the risks of excessive Internet use
- an AR game for students to help them develop a healthy relationship with technology

Additionally, we trained more than 300 teachers and students encouraging them to reflect on their individual and peer technology use and provide them with the necessary tools to embrace a balanced approach to media and technology.

Even though the project has ended we will still be around to support teachers and students!
